

To Whom It May Concern:

I would like to share my experience with Natasha Davis of Visionary People, LLC.

I decided to start a business doing what I loved in November of 2011. I got my business license and got to work on my passion of event staffing. After a year I learned there was a lot more to running a business than providing great service. I felt overwhelmed, alone, discouraged and contemplated throwing in the towel. I needed balance; I needed a partner to help organize my business on the back-end. I set out to look for a business coach.

When I met Natasha her personality was genuine, energizing and positive (I liked that). Before our face to face consultation we had a long conversation about the ins and outs of The Social Hostess, LLC. She wanted to know the background and what my unwritten passion was for doing the business. She also asked me a lot about myself, my personal strengths and weakness. When we met for the official consultation I was surprised at the amount of research she had done on my business. I was comfortable because she met me where I was. She did not talk over me or make me feel bad for not knowing certain "Business Things".

There are a few great programs that Visionary People offer. Because I am a one man show, I decided to do the weekly one on one coaching session which provides me with an accountability partner that knows my goals and can keep me motivated and on track. We share ideas and she has helped me clarify and expand my goals. She has also helped me work through and strengthen my weaknesses.

With the help I have received from Natasha and Visionary People my business has significantly grown. I have a clear path and I no longer feel alone.

I would recommend Natasha of Visionary people to any business owner who wants to work with a knowledgeable, positive team that will take your passion and vision to new heights.
